The Hunter WA200 Aligner and RX Scissor Rack have been a welcome addition to the profitability of Maxi Lube. We have been pleasantly surprised with the amount of alignment labor and part sales generated by the equipment, enabling a total pay back of the equipment cost in the first 18 months of use.

Hunter's WinAline software graphics, illustrations and videos have been a great asset in helping to train a couple of our techs to become quite proficient at doing alignments. The automatic features of the RX Scissor Rack help speed up the alignment process and the customers often marvel at how the rack automatically airs up the tires.

The techs like to use the Tools & Kits software feature which helps them make quick, accurate decisions about which cam kit or shim to use, thus increasing the accuracy and profitability of the alignments. The software even tells them how to install many of the kits. Our only regret is that we didn't add alignments to our lube center five years ago.
